Paul And Stephen

It is remarkable how completely Stephen, before his death, is the forerunner of Apostle Paul, both in the form and the matter of this defense. His securing the attention of the Jews by adopting the historical method during his trial is exactly what the Apostle did in the synagogue at Antioch in Pisidia (Acts 13:16 - 22).

The Death of Stephen - Bible Study

In the person of Stephen, Paul had been attacking Stephen's Master. The vision that had comforted Stephen in death now leaves Paul himself apparently dead. but also by the paradox of faith brings him new life. These external points of contact are plain and point to a marked parallelism between ...

sermon allowed Paul to remember the about Sarah and Hagar; (Epistle to the Romans) and all that discussion about father Abraham being justified by faith is there in Stephen's speech. Probably Stephen's speech was recorded in Paul's mind as Paul traveled with Luke, Paul told Luke what Stephen had said as Stephen's sermon went deep into Paul's soul and helped in writing the other epistles.

Stephen and Saul - sounddoctrine

Stephen was "full of grace," and the words of Stephen at the time of his death are a testimony to this fact. He was not an "angry young preacher," a hostile fellow belching forth the fire of hell. He was a man who loved his listeners, who prayed for their forgiveness and salvation. Paul was a delayed answer to this prayer.

11. The Stoning of Stephen (Acts 6:8-8:1) | Bible.org

The Stoning of Stephen - When the members of the Sanhedrin heard this, they were furious and gnashed their teeth at him. But Stephen, full of the Holy Spirit, looked up to heaven and saw the glory of God, and Jesus standing at the right hand of God. "Look," he said, "I see heaven open and the Son of Man standing at the right hand of God." At this they covered their ears and, yelling at ...

I re-listened recently to Sinclair Ferguson's outstanding presentation, "Justification and the New Perspective on Paul" (online here).. In passing, he made the following observation about Paul and Stephen, which I found intriguing in that I had never drawn more than an incidental connection between the two men before: Saul happened to be available to hold coats while Stephen was stoned.

Stephen's feelings about the Temple seem to have been more completely negative than those of the first Christians generally; the latter, including St. Paul, continued to frequent it.Its sacrificial rites served in many ways to shape the theological interpretation of salvation through the death of Jesus. There is no hint that Stephen assigned doctrinal significance to the death of Jesus.
